2. BASIC SCOPE OF WORK:

The scope shall include:

2.1 Supply of technically compatible electro-magnetic cooling water flow meters.

The required quantities shall be three (3) HT and three (3) LT cooling water flow meters.

Existing flow metering instrumentation to be upgraded are listed below.

2.1.1 Three (3) turbine type High Temperature (HT) Cooling Water flow meters with integral counter/totalizers and pulse transmitters for remote (DCS) flow indication.

2.1.2 Three (3) turbine type Low Temperature (LT) Cooling Water flow meters with integral counter/totalizers and pulse transmitters for remote (DCS) flow indication.

2.2 Removal of existing meters and associated equipment to pave way for the supplied meters.

- 2.3 Installation of the new flow meters and interfacing the same to the existing flow measuring/indication system i.e. DCS
- 2.4 Commissioning of the installed flow meters and accessories.
- 2.5 Provision of on-site training to KenGen staff on both the supplied hardware and software set-up, commissioning and fault diagnosis.

This being an upgrade of existing flow metering systems the technical details for the existing equipment are attached in Appendix 1.

The description and requirements contained in this specification are concise by necessity and cannot include all the details. However, it is the responsibility of the bidder to execute the job on a turnkey basis in accordance with the specifications and internationally recognized engineering practices.

Any activity specifically not listed in this document does not absolve the bidder of their responsibility to include such activities in their scope of supply and work, which otherwise is necessary to complete the project. All such activities shall be carried out by the bidder without any cost/ time implication other than those stated in the bid document.

3. DETAILED SCOPE OF WORK:

3.1 System Re-Engineering

KenGen shall provide the bidder, with this bid package, technical specifications for the transmitters, typical Piping & Instrumentation schematic and process data sheets.

The bidder shall carry out detailed re-engineering of the flow measuring system based on the data provided in the bid package and in line with other technical requirements specified elsewhere in the tender document.

The scope shall include sizing and size verification for all items including where data is dependent upon basic/detailed engineering designs, preparation of data sheets, coordination drawings for instruments and system oriented items, engineering drawings etc.

3.2 Control Room/Remote Display Engineering

The flow meters shall re-transmit pulsed signals to the remotely mounted pulse/analogue signal converters which in turn provide 1–5 V dc and 4–20mA dc signals to the distributed control system (DCS) and generator control panel (GCP) respectively. The DCS and GCP indications are programmed to show both flow rates in M³/hr and totalized flow in M³.

3.3 Instruments Installation

Installation of all transmitters shall conform to the best measuring practices so that a truly representative signal of the variable is obtained.

Equipment shall be positioned to permit easy access for visual inspection and maintenance but shall be protected from damage by personnel or passing or falling objects. The equipment shall not be bracketed directly from pipework or handrails.

Care shall be taken to ensure equipment is not damaged or obstructed by subsequent lagging/steelwork etc.

Provision shall be made for the adequate isolation of impulse lines and for the removal of transmitters for repair or calibration.

Equipment shall in all cases be installed with due regard for the safety of personnel.

3.4 Instrument Panels

Where instrument panels shall be installed in the field, the Instruments supplier (contractor) shall make the following checks:

- i. Visual check for damage, deformation and quality of construction.
- ii. Dimensional and detailed physical check to ensure that all dimensions are correct against specifications and drawings.

Earthing arrangement checks shall be made to ensure they are up to standard and that earth conductors have continuity and are adequately rated.

Checks shall be made to ensure that gland plates are of a size sufficient to accommodate all cabling and piping and that any internal trunking is of sufficient size to accommodate any field wiring.

Warning and general labels shall be checked to see if the descriptions are correct and these are sufficient.

A function and calibration check shall be carried out on each instrument. Where necessary the equipment shall be recalibrated.

All test equipment used shall be certified and certificates made available to illustrate compliance.

3.5 Connectivity

On-site check-out and pre-commissioning shall be carried out by specialist personnel from the equipment vendor or alternatively by reference to the manufacturer's specific instructions and to KenGen's satisfaction.

Nevertheless, the basic requirement shall remain that every input and output signal must be checked through from its field initiation point to control room display unit or vice versa.

All control functions must be checked for operability in accordance with the manufacturer's stated performance characteristics.

All checks must be recorded on loop test sheets.

3.6 Inspection and Testing

Visual checks shall be made on all primary element installations and impulse piping to ensure equipment has been installed in accordance with specifications and drawings.

The orientation and access to all sensors shall be inspected to verify correct location in the plant and serviceability of installation.

Checks shall be made to ensure that signal cabling is adequately segregated from power cabling. Cable tray, trunking and brackets shall be inspected for firm fixing, no sharp edges, protection of cut edges and acceptable routing.

Glanding and terminations shall be examined to ensure correctness of same and correct termination of conductors, screen or shield. All connections shall be inspected for security.

Power supplies, where applicable, shall be inspected to ensure compliance to specification and that the drawings are suitable for supplied equipment.

Earthing facilities as well as fusing/circuit breaker values shall be as required.

3.7 Commissioning

i. Pre-commissioning loop testing shall be carried out to prove the installed instrument system functions correctly. In general each complete instrument loop shall be tested as a system and where necessary adjustments shall be made to the calibration. Associated alarms shall be checked during loop testing.

ii. Following pre-commissioning the Contractor shall have an instrument commissioning engineer available to carry out commissioning.

Test certificates shall be issued to illustrate that complete testing and commissioning has been completed.

The contractor shall provide test/commissioning sheets to KenGen for verification.

The certificates must highlight test equipment used with its manufacturer's name, model number, serial number, test certificate number and issue date as a minimum for traceability.

3.8 Training

The vendor, in the course of installation and commissioning, will not be required to offer basic training to KenGen staff.

3.9 Technical Documentation

The contractor will prepare and supply comprehensive design, installation and maintenance documents both in soft and hard copies.

3.10 Warranty

All systems and components supplied under Vendor's specifications shall be guaranteed against defective materials, fail function of software products, poor workmanship, design deficiencies, false functional applications, and failure during normal usage for 12 months. The contractor shall make up all necessary corrections to all deficiencies noted and to either repair or replace and to return within this time at free of charge. Satisfactory warranty documents shall be provided by the contractor.
